Givebio is a free and open social media platform dedicated to the good in society.

Our platform connects people, businesses and charities to showcase and share their world of good, to inspire others to care and give to build stronger communities and a better world. We believe in the power of social media and the benefits it can bring to communities. But it's when it's used for giving (improving people's lives through your actions without causing harm to others) that it delivers the most positive impact to society. We want to be at the heart of everything good in society, supporting and championing local charities, social enterprises and other community groups, to help increase the collective power and social impact within our communities. People

Let the good you do inspire others to care and give for a better world.

Enhance your personal brand by sharing your philanthropy and giving activities via a dedicated new social media profile.

Help raise more money, awareness and support for the charities and causes you care about.

Find and connect with community services to help improve your health, wellbeing and social welfare.

Get special offers from local ethical businesses and charities. Business

Highlight the generosity of your people and champion the charities and community groups you care about.

Promote your CSR via a dedicated new social media profile.

~~Share your commitment, activities and aspirations for giving back to your~~ community.

Let local charities find you based on your community interests and support them in a way that maximises your collective impact.

Amplify the positive difference you make to the people, places and things in your community.

Charities & Community Groups
Let the personality and character of your people help to drive engagement and commission-free donations for your charity.

Harness first-person storytelling by your staff, supporters and beneficiaries to raise awareness and attract new donors and volunteers.

Discover progressive businesses and grant makers using Givebio to share their world of good.

Promote your products and services where potential customers are looking for solutions and remedies.

Join our Charity Pioneers group for a share of profits generated by the platform.

Pricing
Givebio is COMPLETELY FREE for everyone to join and use. We do not charge a membership fee, nor do we charge for creating User, Business, Charity or Community profiles on our platform. And we do not charge commission fees on funds raised on our platform.

However, every venture needs to generate income and profit to be viable, achieve its mission and to be sustainable. Givebio is no different.

But we are clear that there must be no barrier for anyone to access and use our platform. Our goal is to create a platform that is self-sustaining and to use any profits generated to further support the charities and community groups using the platform.

So How Do We Generate Income?

Contributions from our community

Givebio is supported in part via our Pioneer Partners and contributions made by generous individuals, businesses, charities and other community organisations who share our vision.

Payment processing fees

Donations received via our platform is subject to a flat 3% fee to mitigate the cost and cashflow implications of Givebio processing these payments, handling Gift Aid, etc.

Advertising and promoted content
Givebio will generate income by incorporating ethical display and native advertising, and promoted content, where appropriate. You can however switch these off at any time.

Value added services
Premium tools and services from us and our collaborating partners are available on or via our platform. These may require one-time payment or recurring subscriptions.

All profits generated by our platform is reinvested into improving the platform or distributed to the charities and community groups participating on the platform.

Share Your World of Good!
People
Use Givebio to share their philanthropy and giving activities, to showcase and champion the charities and causes they support, and to inspire others to care and give for a better world.

Businesses
Use Givebio to promote the generosity of their people and organization, show their commitment to 'giving back', and to inspire employees, customers and suppliers to do the same.

Charities
Use Givebio to enable staff, supporters, beneficiaries and service users to share their own stories to attract new donors and volunteers and to enable commission-free giving.

Our Mission
Givebio's mission is to inspire giving by enabling millions of people and organizations to showcase and share their world of good.
